ARE SHOT DOWNStories of Mexican Killings Differ.TRAGEDY OCCURS ON MARCH TO PRISONFormer President and Vice President Are Victims of Guards' Bullets.

City of Mexico, Feb. 24.—Francisco I. Madero, former president of Mexico, and Jose Pino Suarez, who served as vice president until the overthrow of the Madero regime, were shot and killed while being taken from the national palace to the penitentiary. Groups of friends of the deposed president are said to have gathered along the route followed by the guards making demonstrations of sympathy and at times threatening to free the prisoners by force.

During a period of excitement the officers in command of the party gave an order to fire and the bodies of the men who were but lately in authority over those who in this way wreaked their deaths when the attempt was made to rescue Madero and Suarez they attempted to escape and were killed. The would be rescuers were driven off.

Broken hearted and weeping Mrs. Madero, widow of the murdered former president, sought an audience with President Huerta to request that the body of her husband be turned over to her. This request was refused.

President Huerta has announced that he has ordered a rigid investigation of the affair and in the meanwhile the officers and guard who were in charge of the prisoner are held under arrest.

Official accounts of the tragedy do not conform in all cases.

The provisional president, General Victoriano Huerta, says the killing of the two men was incidental to a fight between their guard and a party attempting to liberate them. The minister of foreign relations, Francisco de la Barra, adds that the prisoners attempted to escape. Neither makes a definite statement as to which side fired the fatal shots. It is not impossible that neither knows.

An official investigation has been ordered to determine the responsibility and solemn promises have been made that the guilty will be punished.

Not unnaturally a great part of the public regards the official versions with doubt, having in mind the use for centuries of the notorious Ley Luga, the unwritten law which is invoked when the death of a prisoner is desired. After its application there is written on the records, "Prisoner shot trying to escape."

TRAGEDY CREATES GRAVE SITUATIONAmerica May Be Forced to Intervene in Mexico.

Washington, Feb. 24.—The killing of Francisco I. Madero and Pino Suarez, deposed president and vice president of Mexico, after Provisional President General Huerta had assured American Ambassador Wilson of the safety of his prisoners from just such attacks, created a painful impression in administration circles here.

When the first feeling of surprise had passed it was realized by officials that this last tragic event had added greatly to the gravity of the situation and undoubtedly had placed an additional strain upon the already tense relations between this government and that in the Mexican capital.

Probably the immediate result will be to hasten the military and naval preparations in order to have the soldiers and sailors and marines ready to answer a call for instant embarkation if further developments in Mexico should demand their employment.

The one danger to be apprehended, which almost certainly would result in the launching of an army of invasion, would be the commission of some act or acts in Mexico that would endanger the lives of foreign citizens and Americans.

TRAGEDY INJURES HUERTA

Federal Volunteers and Rebels Are Greatly Aroused.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 24.—The killing of Francisco I. Madero and Pino Suarez has caused as much excitement along the border as did the Mexico City revolt.

The federal volunteer troops, already stirred by the downfall of their former leader, threaten immediately to quit service, but to retain their arms. Their junction with the rebels has been feared since the revolution at the national capital. Even the rebels appear aroused by the death of the man they fought so long to destroy.

Since the killing of Gustavo Madero the rebels have been inclined toward leniency to the former president. They asserted that Madero's worst self died with Gustavo. Pino Suarez, however, was never popular in the north. It is admitted generally that the Huerta government has lost much by the incident, which is hailed as a return to the methods of fifty years ago.

GUST OF WIND FATAL TO TWO

Blows Cap From Head of Man Driving Auto.

St. Louis, Feb. 24.—George M. Trumbo, assistant cashier of the Mechanics-American National bank, and Miss Hazel Flynn were killed and four other members of an automobile party seriously injured when the machine turned upside down on a lonely road in St. Louis county.

A gust of wind that blew the hat of Trumbo from his head, who was driving the car, was responsible for the accident, as Trumbo clapped both hands to his head, releasing the steering wheel. The car veered into a ditch and turned over. All occupants were pinned under the tonneau.

MORGAN DRAWS THE CURIOUS

Cairo Crowds Watch Financier's Movements.

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 24.—The greatest interest is still taken here in J. Pierpont Morgan's movements. When he goes for his daily drive large crowds from the bazars watch his departure and return.

After his meals Morgan enjoys a cigar on the veranda at Shepherd's hotel and evidently is greatly amused at the concern which his doings create. He discusses with friends the curiosity of onlookers, although attempting serenely to ignore the local commotion his presence causes. Morgan undoubtedly is improving daily, but he still declines to receive visitors.

1,000 LIVES PAID FOR COAL

Annual Report of Pennsylvania Mines Department.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 24.—More than one thousand lives were lost in the mines of Pennsylvania in 1912, according to the annual report of the department of mines, which shows that the total production of hard and soft coal in the state amounted to 245,231,555 tons, or about one-half of the entire output of the United States.

In the bituminous fields 182,680 men and boys were employed, of whom 437 were killed. The bituminous production amounted to 169,973,428 tons, or 11,414,381 tons larger than the record year of 1907.

In the anthracite fields there were 175,964 employed, of whom 593 were killed. The production was 84,258,127 tons, or 6,659,049 tons less than in 1911.

BURGLARS WORK IN DAYLIGHT

Bind Clerk and Rob Safe of New York
Cigar Store.

New York, Feb. 24.—In broad daylight three men entered the branch store of a big retail cigar corporation on a busy corner in the theatrical district, covered the lone clerk with a revolver, bound and gagged him and rifled the safe of its contents, about $300. They fled undisturbed. Albert Jacobson, the clerk, though tied hand and foot, rolled to the door and attracted the attention of pedestrians by tapping on the glass with his manacled hands.

FILIBUSTER AS A
SENATE REVENGERepublicans Threaten the Move.

TO SUPPORT APPOINTMENTS

Opposition by Democrats to Confirmation of Republican Selections Would Lead to Retrial—It Would Be of Little Avail, Is Belief—Peace Promoters Have Bad Luck.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Republicans who have been disappointed because they could not get their appointments confirmed owing to the determined opposition of the Democrats, have threatened reprisals when Mr. Wilson becomes president, saying they would hold up his appointments by a filibuster. But that will avail little. The senate will meet in special session for the inauguration on March 4 and Wilson's appointments will be sent in.

If the Republicans begin a filibuster the Democrats intend to adjourn the special session at once. Then the president can reappoint all those who failed of confirmation, and they will hold until the adjournment of the following session. If the filibuster continues through the extra session the men can be reappointed. There are men who have held office in this way through an entire administration. But the Republicans will not carry a filibuster to any such length.

Bad For Peace Promoters.

It has been pointed out that the peace advocates have not been very successful since they became very active. The Balkan war in Europe, with the possibility of a war involving all the European powers; the disturbances in Central America and the constant warfare in Mexico seems to indicate that men are pretty much like they were before the advocates of peace became so active. They will fight when their interests are involved.

No one in the United States has ever wanted war or intervention in Mexico, yet people have recognized that the situation might develop which would force intervention, and there were plenty of men who would go into such a war.

Matter of Mules.

Senator Bristow wanted to eliminate the horses from the various vehicles which transport army officers and their families about Washington and other points and introduced an amendment to the army appropriation bill which would have prevented transportation except by the army mule. Well, everybody likes the army mule. He is a well known adjunct to every modern war, but the Kansas senator could not put anything over which meant that the officers of the army and their families when riding about town could only be transported by the mule.

Of course there were the usual number of mule jokes worked off in the senate, and the staid proceedings were interspersed with laughter, which rarely is allowed in the senate. The laughter occurred when senators spoke of the "business end of the mule" and about the "market for mules" and whether the mule was the more dangerous. Altogether it was quite a field day for the mule.

Uncle Joe Mixed.

Former Speaker Cannon got into deep water the other day when he tried to apply mythology to modern political conditions. He asked if some commission sprang "full armed, like Minerva from the brain of Jove, with full power to call the spirits from the vasty deep." "Minerva didn't have any authority like that," interjected Hamilton of Michigan.

When Will the Sap Run?

Frequently questions are addressed to Senator Page of Vermont as to the time when the "sap will run." In the sugar districts that has much meaning. Senator Page has added significance to the idea by having pure maple sugar and maple syrup distributed among his friends in Washington soon after the time when the "sap begins to run."

The sap is the flow from the maple trees which makes maple sugar. It does not exactly make Vermont famous, but maple sugar and Vermont together are famous, and one reminds a person of the other about this time of year.

Wouldn't Be Serious.

Sometimes Senator Borah of Idaho refuses to be serious. John Sharp Williams was discoursing upon the danger of long continued power in the presidency. "Take a man of no great ability," he said, "take myself or the senator from Idaho, if we wanted to do it; if you gave us twelve, fifteen or twenty years in the presidential office, no power on earth or under heaven could turn us out if we wanted to stay in."

"But the senator from Mississippi and I would have a hard time staying there that long," smilingly remarked Borah.

To Say Nothing of Getting There in the First Place.

That was the almost inaudible comment of Clark of Wyoming.

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 24.—Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the president elect, made an address here in support of the passage by the Delaware legislature of a pending bill limiting a work day for women to ten hours. She pointed out that New Jersey has an eight-hour law for workers and that thirty states have adopted ten-hour laws.

HUERTA GIVES HIS VERSION OF AFFAIRMexican President Tells How Killings Occurred.

Mexico City, Feb. 24.—The following official statement of President Huerta was given out at the palace: "I called together the cabinet to report that Madero and Pino Suarez, who had been detained at the palace at the disposition of the war department, were taken to the penitentiary in accordance with a previous decision, as the result of which that establishment was placed under the charge of an army officer for its better security."

"When the automobiles had traversed about two-thirds of the way to the penitentiary, however, they were attacked by an armed group and the escort descended from the machines to offer resistance. Suddenly the group grew larger and the prisoners tried to escape."

"An exchange of shots then took place, in which two of the attacking party were killed and two were wounded. Both prisoners were killed. The automobiles were badly damaged. The president and his cabinet have resolved that the affair shall be consigned to the military judicial authorities, so they may make a thorough inquiry."

"The minister of justice has asked that when these investigations are over—the case being of no exceptional character—that the prosecutor general of the republic make a further investigation."

"The government deprecates the event and, wishing to attend to the necessities of the public welfare, had asked the minister of justice to formulate a plan of legal action against the prisoners for their several responsibilities, at the same time making an effort to have some of the friends of Madero assist in the solution of this difficult and dangerous question."

DRINKING ON THE INCREASE

Whisky and Tobacco Consumption for Year at Record.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Americans are drinking more whisky, smoking more cigars and cigarettes and chewing more tobacco than ever before in history, according to latest tax returns to Royal E. Cabell, commissioner of internal revenue.

From July to February the nation has consumed 94,000,000 gallons of whisky, an increase of 5,000,000 gallons over the corresponding period of the previous year; 8,500,000,000 cigars, an increase of 2,500,000,000; 4,500,000,000 cigars, an increase of 250,000,000; and 250,000,000 pounds of smoking and chewing tobacco, an increase of 12,000,000 pounds. These are record breaking figures.

Old London Parks.

London's parks in the old days were great places for sport, although even then the spectacle of a naked runner was well, unusual. Coach and foot races were comparatively common, and in 1054 Cromwell himself was present in Hyde park at "a hurling of a great ball by fifty Cornish gentlemen of one side and fifty on the other," the silver ball played with being the prize for the victors. And Cromwell himself tried his hand at coaching in the park with disastrous results, for the horses ran away, and my lord protector was pitched into the roadway, narrowly escaping serious hurt from his pistol, which went off in his pocket.—London Chronicle.

LAUNCHING OF NEW CONGRESS

House Caucus on March 5 Will Name Democratic Members of Ways and Means Committee and Attend to Other Party Matters—Reorganization Fight in Senate Goes Merrily On.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Policies of a new administration and plans of a new congress will be outlined fairly well within the next ten days. Anxious to start the new machinery Democratic leaders have prepared for party reorganization and the outlining of executive action immediately after Mr. Wilson assumes office.

Points about which congressional speculation has centered for many weeks will be cleared up, it is believed, by March 6. These include the makeup of President Wilson's cabinet, relations between Mr. Wilson and William J. Bryan, a subject of much gossip the last week, the personnel of the Democratic membership of the tariff making ways and means committee, the scope of the reorganization fight in the senate and the approximate date for convening the extra session of congress.

Definite steps toward launching the Democratic congress have been taken. The house caucus called for March 5 will name the Democratic members of the ways and means committee, attend to other matters of party reorganization and furnish the basis of tariff discussion from which party leaders will proceed in writing the tariff revision bills.

The reorganization fight in the senate, as many conferences during the last few weeks show, apparently has centered about the effort to name Senator John W. Kern of Indiana as caucus chairman, a post that has been held by Senator Martin of Virginia.

Essential to Smooth Operation.

In both branches of congress the settlement of internal party organization as to policies and men is considered essential at the outset to the smooth operation of the new administration.

The house caucus probably will name members of the banking and currency committee and select, at least tentatively, the heads of other important committees and house officers. No question exists over the continuation of Champ Clark as speaker and Oscar W. Underwood as floor leader and chairman of the ways and means committee.

Profound silence has been maintained as to the nature of the tariff revision favored by the present ways and means committee. Chairman Underwood and members of the committee have declined to commit themselves and the general subject of the tariff will be taken into the caucus of March 5 and considered by the full Democratic membership of the new house.

It is expected here that President Wilson's call for an extra session will specify the tariff as the subject for immediate consideration, but that the way will be left open for the consideration of other urgent matters. While Mr. Wilson has not indicated his purpose of bringing currency reform to the immediate consideration of congress the subject undoubtedly will be forced upon the early attention of the session, because of the desire of many Democrats that the money trust investigation be resumed.

PLOT TO MURDER SULZER

Stranger Informs Governor He Overheard Two Men Planning Killing.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 24.—Governor Sulzer has been informed of an alleged plot to assassinate him. The governor related that Friday a man, with head swathed in bandages, called at the executive chamber and was referred to Owen L. Potter, his legal assistant. To Mr. Potter the man, whose name the governor would not divulge, said that Thursday night, while in an abandoned mill, he had overheard two men discussing a plot to kill the governor. When the conspirators learned of the presence of the governor's informant they assaulted and robbed him.

EARTHQUAKES IN ECUADOR

Cause Panic, but No Fatalities in Guayaquil.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Feb. 24.—This city was violently shaken by a long earthquake. The tremor lasted about seventy seconds. The inhabitants rushed from their houses and the streets soon were thronged with panic stricken men and women, many of them kneeling in prayer.

For a time the whole city was in confusion, but so far as can be ascertained there was no damage and no body was hurt.

Four more slight shocks were felt later. The quake made itself felt throughout the republic.

TAFT EXPRESSES HIS REGRET

President Keenly Feels Shooting of Former President Madero and Former Vice President Suarez, but Declares That He Sees Nothing in the Occurrence Itself to Merit Intervention.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson telegraphed to the state department that Francisco de la Barra, minister for foreign affairs, had invited all foreign diplomats in Mexico City to take lunch with him. The ambassador stated that none of the diplomats would attend the luncheon unless the tragic death of former President Madero and former Vice President Suarez is cleared of mystery.

This decision on the part of the diplomatic corps in the Mexican capital indicates the gravity of the situation which will confront the Huerta government should it fail to clear the mystery in which the killing of Madero and Suarez still is enveloped.

No official comment was forthcoming here on statements relating to the tragedy made by Senor de la Barra and provisional President Huerta, but it was taken for granted that if the late leaders were brutally murdered as the result of a plot the present government will be called upon for an explanation when it seeks political recognition at the hands of the United States.

Thus it may be brought about that, in addition to showing itself equal to the immense problems of reconstruction before it, including the re-establishment of law and order in states so long torn by revolution, Mexico may be asked to show that the blood of its late rulers is not upon its hands.

Taft Expresses Regret.

Late messages bearing upon the Mexican situation were all laid before President Taft as soon as he reached the White House. The president, before leaving New York, expressed his deep regret at the occurrence, but made it clear that he regarded it as the killing of one citizen of a country by fellow citizens. He said that, while this government had done all in its power and all that it consistently could to save Madero's life, he saw in the deplorable occurrence itself no cause for intervention.

After his arrival the president made no further comment on the tragedy after the United States had given the Huerta government to understand that it would look with disfavor upon any summary measures against Madero and Suarez.

President Taft found a telegram from Ambassador Wilson telling of the killing of former President Madero and former Vice President Suarez.

Mr. Wilson explained that the embassy was informed of the double tragedy by Minister for Foreign Affairs de la Barra, who said that the deposed leaders were killed while being transferred from the national palace to the penitentiary. Senor de la Barra asserted that the transfer was being made to afford greater security for the two prisoners pending the abatement of public excitement.

Consular reports received at the state department indicate general adhesion to the Huerta regime at the City of Mexico with the exception of Chihuahua and Sonora.

WILSON REFUSES COMMENT

Will Maintain Policy of Silence Until He Takes Office.

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 24.—President Elect Wilson was shocked to hear the news that Madero and Suarez had been killed in Mexico City.

"It's too bad," he said, but he refrained from comment, saying he would maintain his policy of silence until he had taken office.

While nothing has come from Mr. Wilson to indicate what his attitude will be he has kept himself consistently informed of developments, displaying at all times a keen interest in the progress of events in the trouble ridden country.

The pope, in consequence of a severe cold, has himself abandoned smoking and, like Leo XIII., contents himself with snuff.

The "Linger Longer" club was entertained by Mrs. Ed. Woelfert at her home on north Broadway on Friday afternoon. "500" was the diversion. Mrs. C. A. Callan winning first prize and Mrs. Geo. Moody the consolation. The score cards and table appointments were very pretty, being suggestive of Washington's birthday. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. J. F. Smart and Mrs. L. E.
Garrison entertained a party of twenty-five children at a Washington's birthday party Saturday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:00. One part of the entertainment was the shooting with a bow and arrow at a George Washington's hatchet. Kent Angel won first, Percy Gaumnitz second and Pearl Vaughn the booby prize. Lunch was served. Postcards and hatchets were given as souvenirs.

The water main at the corner of Oak and South Fifth streets broke this morning and the water was shut off at nine o'clock from the south side in order to give the water and light board a chance to repair the leak. There was a leak at this point a year ago, but the present one is three times as serious as the one of 1912. Monday is wash day and many a housewife on the south side was up in arms in the morning because of the lack of water and dis-arrangement of her washing schedule.

Water on Gibraltar.

On the eastern side of the rock of Gibraltar there is a curious looking white patch which led an American tourist to ask whether the rock was being armor plated. It is really a catchment for rainwater to increase the reserve of water on the rock. The catchment covers ten acres. It is made of galvanized corrugated iron fixed to piles driven deep into the sandy slopes above the village of Catalan. The water collected at the foot of the catchment runs through the rock into a tunnel 2,000 feet long and is delivered into reservoirs on the western side. The yield to the inch of rainfall is 240,000 gallons.—New York Tribune.

PICKED UP HALF FROZEN IN ROAD

George Einols Found on Highway
Four Miles West of Brainerd
Near the Stoner Dam

HIS HANDS AND FEET FROZEN

Taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Fred Hanscom, a Driver of Archie Purdy

Lying in the road four miles west of Brainerd and within a short distance of the Cuyuna Range Power company or Stoner dam at Crow Wing river, George Einols was found Sunday evening with legs and feet badly frozen, the temperature at the time being 20 below.

Frank Hanscom, a driver in the employ of Archie Purdy, had taken a party to the dam and on his return trip to Brainerd noticed the body of a man huddled up in the road.

He stopped his team and picked up Einols whose clothes were frozen on his body. He was unable to walk. Hanscom drove to the Sisters hospital and left the helpless wayfarer there for treatment. Chief of Police Ridley assisted in taking care of the man.

His limbs will be saved. He has given several versions of his work in town and where he lives, saying he was a resident of Chilton, Wis., where he has a family of a wife and five children. He has told so many stories that he is believed to be slightly demented, which might be due in part to his sufferings.

Fritz-Wachholz

Carl Fritz of Winona, and Mrs. Henrietta Wachholz of Platte Lake township, were married this morning at 10:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bentley, 623 South Ninth street, the Rev. E. Bratzel officiating. The pleasing ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and immediate friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was attired in a gown of gray messaline and wore a head-dress of cream colored maline. The bridesmaid was Miss Rosella Kienow who wore ecru colored silk. The best man was William Nubbe.

The rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion. At noon a sumptuous dinner was served to the guests. The bride has lived in Crow Wing county the last 13 years and owns valuable farm property. The groom is a retired farmer. Mr. and Mrs. Fritz will make their home at Winona, leaving for their destination Saturday.

Their many friends wish them much happiness and prosperity, a wish in which the Dispatch heartily joins.

At eight o'clock in the morning the Knights and candidates attended St. Francis Catholic church and listened to a fine sermon preached by Rev. Father J. J. O'Mahoney. The initiatory work, three degrees, was given in the afternoon at the Redmen's hall.

The banquet was given at the Citizens State bank hall at 7 P. M. Over 300 diners were in attendance. The supper was furnished by the ladies of the parish and the young girls of the church served the viands. Five large tables, running the length of the large hall, decorated with pink carnations, red roses and tulips, shining with cut glass and silver and carrying a sumptuous dinner of several courses made a splendid foundation for a banquet which was further enlivened by splendid addresses delivered by Rev. Father J. J. O'Mahoney, Rev. Father Crean, James Nolan, Mr. Ahles of St. Cloud, Mr. Andrews of Bemidji, Mr. Cashman of Staples, W. W. Barron, W. H. Cleary, M. J. Reilly, Dr. Leonard of St. Cloud. Mayor H. P. Dunn presided as toastmaster and also delivered an eloquent address.

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

FATE OF LEAGUE BALL IN BALANCE

Looks as Though the Central Minnesota Baseball Association had Given up Ghost

SOME OF THE LETTERS RECEIVED

President Harry D. Treglawny of Brainerd Team has Sounded
Sentiment on the Subject

It looks at the present time as though the Central Minnesota baseball association had given up the ghost and would not revive in time for the season of 1913. President Harry D. Treglawny of the Brainerd baseball team has written to the nines which composed the association and no very enthusiastic letters have been received. In the cases of Royalton and Crosby no answers whatever were obtained.

St. Cloud used to be a big factor in the baseball world but Dr. Henry J. Thielman has had sufficient of the baseball game. He writes:

"Yours concerning baseball received. I am out of baseball for good and all and as there has been no action in St. Cloud so far this spring, I am unable to turn your letter over to any one who might give you a definite answer on the question you desire.

The manager of the Sauk Rapids team, M. C. Robbers, replied: "We have not done anything in the baseball line so far, but I expect we will be able to be on the baseball map this coming season. I do not think many of the fans here favor the league unless we can get St. Cloud to stick and cut out the small towns. If St. Cloud, Little Falls, Brainerd and Sauk Rapids will form the schedule, we possibly would enter. At any rate we would want to play a series with Brainerd."

Charles Sylvester of Little Falls answered: "Your letter duly received and while I am not manager of the baseball team, will take the liberty of answering.

"There has been nothing done here relative to the Sunday league and no meetings have been held this year. Personally I am in favor of the Sunday league along the lines followed last season. However, I do not think that it is possible to limit the teams to a certain number of paid players as this will cause trouble again and some towns require more outside help than others.

"I hope that something will be done relative to this matter in the near future, but at present I do not care to express the wishes of the people here, as I do not know how they feel about it."

Some agitation has been started in the state against Sunday baseball and a bill was even introduced in the legislature prohibiting this form of Sunday amusement. With no Sunday baseball in Brainerd the town would be so dead that they could hear the bones rattle.

The First Pincers.

The lobster's claw is said to be the original gasfitter's pincers. There are many other pincer carrying animals, especially the scorpions, and among these we can find nearly as great a variety as in the hardware shop. Shears and scissors are very similar in operation to the pincers, and we find a number of creatures carrying such tools. The earwigs, for instance, carry a pair of forceps as skillfully constructed as any a dentist uses. The power of the big pincers of a crab or lobster's claw is well known, and some of the modern instruments used for gasfitting are based on principles of construction somewhat similar.—St. Nicholas.

CHRISTINE MILLER RECITAL

Members of Brainerd Musical Club
Went to Little Falls Saturday to Hear Singer

The members of the Brainerd Musical club who went to Little Falls on Saturday for the Christine Miller recital were amply repaid, both because of the great excellence of the recital, and of the enjoyment of the trip. The courtesy of the railway officials in providing a special car for their use during the afternoon and evening, and the kindly attentions of the conductor, Mr. McLagan, made the journey back and forth both comfortable and pleasurable for all.

It is seldom that one hears a recital so satisfying in all particulars as that given by Miss Miller and her accompanist, Mrs. Charles Dudley Robinson. The completeness of their work together, as artists, with voice and piano, was emphasized by the great charm of their personalities and the evident musical sympathy between them. The picture they made together on the stage, was a superb visualization of the spirit of music they were expressing in song throughout the program.

Miss Miller is in all respects an artist. Her contralto is of rare richness in quality, flexible, and wonderfully trained to express the meaning of a song. There is besides, an illusive, bewitching charm in her appearance, and a subtlety of dramatic insight in her manner which in each instance made her personality seem but a delightful embodiment of the song she was singing.

Mrs. Robinson, as accompanist was delightful, and her piano numbers were received by the audience with well deserved enthusiasm.

The audience filled the new Victor theater, and was most appreciative and responsive, in acknowledgment of which Miss Miller sang several extra numbers as encores. She insisted that the tribute of applause which greeted her newest song "A Valentine," by Malcolm McMillan be shared by Mrs. Robinson, since she is the sister of Mr. McMillan who dedicated the song to Miss Miller.

The Little Falls Musical Art club is deserving of great commendation in their enterprise of bringing such an artist as Miss Miller into the community, and are to be congratulated upon the success of its achievement.

"The Half Breed" shows pictures of the wild west and the setting and scenery is absolutely correct. Over 50 people take part in this picture.

"When the Stars in the Sky Spell Love" was the title of the illustrated song which was sung by Arthur White in his characteristically good style and elicited much applause. "High Explosives Used in the U. S. Army" was a very interesting educational number. It showed how land mines situated in war near field entrenchments or fortifications are fired. The six grain fulminating cap, the connection of the cap with the wire, drilling for a charge and the explosion, when huge masses of dirt and rock flew sky high, were all clearly shown.

"Sally Ann's Strategy" was a comedy film. Arthur White sang a spotlight song which caught the favor of the large audiences.

The feature film came near the close of the program and was entitled "The Adventure of the Counterfeit Bills." It disclosed now Lambert Chase, the great detective, runs down a man who has been manufacturing the "queer" and every move of the great game is of the most absorbing interest. With such a wealth of good things at the Empress, don't miss the show.

"Beverly"

When George Barr McCutcheon's "Beverly" was presented in Pittsburgh the attendance was so great that after Tuesday night every seat in the house was sold for all the remaining performances and an extra performance was given on Saturday morning to a crowded house. It has not been necessary to play a morning performance in the other cities, the fact remains that "Beverly" has been greeted by crowded houses in every city and town where the company has appeared, and the result will probably be the same here on Tuesday night, March 11, as there is an unusual amount of interest manifested in the engagement among all classes of theater patrons.

Relief for Bowel Trouble

Here is a laxative—not a purgative—but a pleasant, easy-to-take tablet that tastes just like candy, that children like, that is ideal for invalids and aged persons. We guarantee it not to cost you a penny if it does not satisfy you. Don't doubt or hesitate—make us prove it.

Consult Your Doctor

We believe your doctor will tell you that about 95 per cent of all human ills are indirectly caused by unclean and constipated bowels. You know the first question the doctor asks when you consult him is, "Are your bowels regular?"

When your bowels are not naturally exercised such as they would be if you took a good brisk walk of six or seven miles a day out in the open, they require artificial exercise and a corrective tonic that will soothe and strengthen while regulating the bowels to natural action.

Free If It Fails

We have so much faith in Rexall Orderlies as the safest, most dependable, easiest-to-take, quietest acting and most thoroughly good remedy for bowel trouble, that we offer them with our positive guarantee that if they do not satisfy for any reason whatever, we will hand back the money you paid for them.

Don't doubt or hesitate. Make us prove our claims. Come and get a box of Rexall Orderlies today.

PLEA FOR KINDNESS TO CHILDREN MADE IN PLAY.

"A Good Little Devil" Has Remarkable Speech For Little Ones.

In David Belasco's production of "A Good Little Devil" in New York there is one remarkable speech which Ernest Truex, in his fine performance of Charles MacLance, delivers with such tenderness that all the big people in the audience go through the "business of swallowing bumps." The "good little devil" is starved and beaten by his cruel ogre of an aunt. Finally he steps out over the footlights and speaks directly to the audience this plea for the child:

"Mothers, fathers, everybody, do not be unkind. We are children for such a little while. Love is very fragile, children very small. Can't you hear the cry that is raised in all the land, the cry of those who are scolded without reason, without justice? Ah, do not be unkind! The cry is in the palace, in the village, in the hotel. Listen! Can't you hear it? I am no longer Charles, no longer a child in a fairy play. I am all children—all children who are wounded and hurt, whose lonely hearts are broken by punishment and neglect.

"All the children in the world have asked me to speak for them tonight. And all the grown up children, too; the men who have failed, who are too weak, too dumb with sorrow, to speak for themselves, all the bewildered, the neglected, the terrified, the forgotten—all have asked me to speak for them tonight. I am no longer Charles—I am just a little boy laying bare his heart to try to make you understand.

"You may punish little children with severity and hatred, but never so will you win them to be good. No. The hands that are holding these old world weapons are growing feebler and feebler every day. They are dying, they are dying, they are dead, and love is coming into the hearts of men."

Mme. Rostand and her son, Maurice, are the authors of "A Good Little Devil," but it seems safe to assert that only a mother could have written such a speech as this

MAN'S WONDERFUL ACHIEVEMENTS

Pastor Russell Delivers Addresses at Panama and Colon.

The Marvels of the Canal—Intellect at Work—Steam, Electricity, Machinery, the Slaves of the New Order—Future Glories Anticipated—Man, the King of Earth, to Be Reinstated—His Recovery From Sin and Death Guaranteed at Calvary—The Next Ten Centuries Will Be Marvelous.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Panama—Colon, February 23.—Pastor Russell manifested a keen interest in the great Panama Canal work, which is speeding to completion. He took for his text Psalm 84, "WHAT IS MAN?" He rehearsed human engineering feats of the past—the Tower of Babel, the great city of Babylon, the Great Pyramid of Egypt, full of scientific accuracy and symbols of Heavenly things. Solomon's Temple and Herod's, the Cathedral of St. Peter's at Rome, and other great cathedrals, each wonderful in its way, were referred to as examples of man's skill in the past.

All these stately edifices, the Pastor declared, glorify man's intellectual power not less than do some of the legal statutes of the past—the Mosaic Law, the Laws of Lycurgus, etc. These achievements refute the thought that our forefathers were monkeys.

Within the last half-century, human intelligence has bounded forward in a most remarkable manner. The telegraph, the telephone, the wireless, steam power, electric power and light have given talents a wider scope than ever before. They have forwarded the art of printing, which, in turn, has stimulated education. World-wide intelligence is making the world fabulously rich. Millions are on the alert to associate themselves with the new things and the resulting prosperity.

The Canal Illustrates All This.
Modern cities, with their multiplied conveniences, our tunnels, or subways, under cities, and all for which they stand, amaze us. As we realize that these things have come within fifty years, we repeat, "What is Man?" How wonderful is the intelligence which has been able to grapple with nature, its laws, etc., and master them! Is not man a great king in all the earth?

Nowhere is man's power to deal with earthly conditions more strikingly manifest than on this Canal Zone. We have here an illustration of mountain-moving faith. Six tons of Trojan powder exploded at one instant, crumbling an entire hill, is certainly a wonderful record. These great steam shovels which move enormous masses of loosened earth are marvelous. If only a few years ago, some one had told us that a man, by moving a lever, could lift six tons of earth, transport it an eighth of a mile, and load it upon cars, all in three minutes or less, we would have thought him insane.

Tells of Messiah's Day.
We must accredit our great progress to God. His time has come for lifting the veil of ignorance and superstition. He has been gradually favoring the increase of knowledge along every line. We today are merely taking advantage of this more extended knowledge, carried into homes and offices by means of printing presses, railroads, steamships, postal service, etc. Instead, therefore, of trying to belittle our ancestors, let us confess that we have drawn from them deep inspiration.

Let us credit our progress, not to evolution, but to the more reasonable proposition that God's time has come to give us the blessings promised in the Scriptures—the blessings which herald Messiah's Kingdom. We have waited and prayed for it. Now that the dawning of the New Day is visible on every hand, let us not forget to be taught of God, reading in the signs of the times the fulfillment of the predictions of forty centuries.

What Will Man Become?
Our text intimates that man is poor, weak, fallen, unworthy of his Creator's favor and blessing. He is not deserving of eternal torment, but of the Divine sentence, "Dying, thou shalt die," because of degradation through the fall. Yet God has made provision for man's recovery from sin and death. The foundation for this recovery was laid by the Sin-Atoneement Sacrifice on Calvary. The blessings of that Atonement have been extended thus far to only a small number, such as would take up their cross and follow in the Savior's footsteps.

But the selection of the Elect to be associates with Messiah in His Kingdom is only the beginning of God's favor to mankind. The Elect will soon be complete. Then the Kingdom will be established by Divine Power in authority and dominion, not to crush mankind, but for human uplift out of sin and degradation, back to the full image and likeness of God.

If fallen man can accomplish the wonders of our day, what will not be possible to restored man, under the favorable conditions of Messiah's Kingdom, for which the world of mankind has waited ever since God promised it to Abraham—four thousand years ago.

Create Opportunity.

Opportunity always meets those who are ready for it, because readiness creates opportunity. Men who count do not wait for opportunity—they make it. If the wind is against them they handle the boat differently, but they sail in the teeth of the wind as readily as they sail before it and often get more fun matching their skill against an unfriendly breeze than in making speed without effort. But a man must know his boat to manage it well in bad weather.—St. Nicholas.

"THE ORCHESTRA"

Synopsis of Paper by Mrs. J. A. Fuller of Albert Lea, Read at Musical Club Meeting

Mrs. J. A. Fuller's paper on "The Orchestra" before the Brainerd Musical club on Friday was so full of interesting information about the most wonderful instrument in existence—the modern orchestra, that a synopsis is here given for the benefit of the Dispatch readers.

Every loyal Minnesotan is proud of the laurels gathered in the East by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, and this paper helped us appreciate the great talent of such an orchestra leader as Emil Oberhoffer and the stupendousness of his task.

After giving a short history of the development of the orchestra, Mrs. Fuller tried to correct the popular idea that size and excellency are synonymous. If what is gained in volume is lost in unity of shading, precision of attack and quick response to the conductor's suggestions, it is easy to see that there is great loss in what is called the ensemble of the orchestra. German investigators have concluded that an orchestra of about one hundred members in a hall with a seating capacity of 1,000 gives the ideal result.

The orchestra is divided into four choirs, of which the string choir is the most important. It has the greatest range of tones and the greatest possibilities for variety of expression, while there is practically no limit to the prolongation of tone and speed limit except that set by the muscles of the performers. Neither is it subject to the physical limitations of the wind choirs. Besides these advantages, the audience can stand more string tone than wind tone.

The first violins are the sopranos of the string choir, the second violins the altos, the violas the tenors, the cellos the baritones and double basses the basses. Effects produced by tricks of bowing, by the use of the mute and by massing the violins in the different registers were described. A mass of violins playing in the middle and upper registers produces the brilliant color of the modern orchestra.

The viola was compared to Shakespeare's Viola, who "never told her love but let concealment like a worm in the bud prey on her damask cheek." Originally her use was similar to that of wives, an aid to the basses, but modern composers, like modern men in general, have discovered that both have individualities and the tendency is to overwork them.

The viola, being a large violin with a deeper compass, enables composers to pass from violins to violas and then to cellos without any abrupt change of tonal quality.

The cello has a sufficient compass to allow it to be used as the bass of the string quartet, as a solo instrument or as the singer of a melody accompanied by the other strings.

The double bass was so named because its original use was to double the bass part of the cello, but it now has an independent part.

The strings are characterized by a strong family resemblance, but the woodwinds are noted for their striking individualities. There are three families of woodwinds—flutes, oboes and clarinets. First family consists of piccolo and flute; second of oboe, English horn and bassoon; third, clarinet and bass clarinet. Flutes, clarinets, oboes and bassoons are usually paired.

The flute is the most agile instrument of the choir, but has limited powers of expression. The piccolo is a shrill-voiced flute well adapted to express joy or obtain violent effects where shrill sounds are needed, as in storms or scenes in the infernal regions.

The oboes resembles the tone of the shepherd's pipe and performs the duty of sounding the "a" to which the whole orchestra tunes.

The English horn is an alto oboe, having a heavier and drier quality than the oboe. Wagner was the first composer to make this instrument speak with a human voice.

The clarinet is the true dramatic soprano of the orchestra, but its uppermost notes are seldom used except for screaming effects. Its range of expression is very great, making it very useful both for solo effects and to fill out harmonies. The same player uses two and sometimes three instruments. He must use at least one for sharps and another for flats. The bass clarinet has a rich, sonorous bass tone, but it looks like a Dutch pipe.

The bassoon, or clown of the orchestra, is the bass of the oboe. It occupies a similar position in the wood-wind choir as the cello does among the strings. Its upper notes are plaintive while its lower notes are deep and coarse and are often employed for purely clownish effects. However, this instrument is capable of a great variety of effects.

The third choir—the bass winds—are characterized by the difficulty of their technique. Their partial tones require different degrees of wind pressure and, consequently, call for the most careful management of lips and breath.

The French horn is the old hunting horn, the tones of which blend admirably with both strings and wood. Modern composers usually employ four horns and they are frequently heard alone with fine effect. The trumpet resembles the army bugle and is the soprano of the bass choir. They are generally used en masse, but sometimes perform singly for comic effects. The "stopped" tone of a trumpet sounds like a person singing through his nose in a falsetto voice.

The trombone, or great trumpet, is the noblest of all the orchestral instruments. Its tone is usually grave and majestic but it may be made to rage hoarsely.

The tuba is the double bass of the brass choir. The quality of its tone is noble and it blends well with the trombones.

The tympani are the only instruments in the battery that can be tuned to sound certain notes. Three and sometimes four of these kettle drums are used in the modern orchestra. Beethoven tuned these in octaves and produced a striking effect. They also frequently play a theme of two notes, often repeated.

The other instruments of percussion are the snare drum, bass drum, cymbals, triangle, tambourine, castanets, xylophone and gong.

The harp was not employed as a genuine orchestra instrument until 1810, when Erard brought his pedal mechanism to perfection. By means of these pedals, operated by the feet, the tension of the strings can be instantly altered and the harp thrown into another key. It is used for broad chord, or running arpeggio effects.

Good orchestra players, like a perfect boat crew, must sacrifice individual glory to good team work. There must be solidity, balance and variety of tone and the quality must be smooth and mellow. It should never be possible to hear the rasping of stringed instruments, or the grasping of brass ones. In fact, the orchestra should never reveal its own mechanism. No individual voices should be heard, but it should blend as one great, "multiple voice which can narrate an epic or proclaim a tragedy and can sway the heart with its eloquence."

GAS, SOURNESS and INDIGESTION VANISH

Just as Soon as "Pape's Diapiesin" Comes in Contact With the Stomach all Distress is Gone

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapiesin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid, head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment Diapiesin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back. It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

How to Make CALUMET Biscuit

To see how delightful baking can be, get a can of Calumet Baking Powder—and try this delicious recipe:

Calumet Biscuit.
1 heaping teaspoonful Calumet Baking Powder;
1 level teaspoon of salt;
2 rounded tablespoons butter or lard;
3/4 cup of milk;
3/4 cup of water.

Sift flour once, then measure, add salt and baking powder and sift three times, rub shortening in with fork or spoon, add milk and water, turn out on a well floured board and roll one inch thick, cut and bake in a quick oven about twelve to fifteen minutes.

And then when they come piping hot from the oven, light and fluffy and wholesome—butter and lard.

That's the Calumet test—always. Everything baked with Calumet must be as good—or a little better—than bakings made with other brands.

Calumet is moderate in price—economical in use. Your grocer knows—ask him.
